SemDis: An Open Platform for Computing Semantic Distance

Developed by professors from Washington and Lee University and Penn State University, SemDis uses advances in natural language processing to automatically determine how closely associated texts are to each other.

SemDis is a free, open platform for scoring texts like divergent thinking responses that can complement or replace laborious scoring by human raters.

SemDis is available here: http://semdis.wlu.psu.edu/

Reference

Beaty, R. E., & Johnson, D. R. (2021). Automating creativity assessment with SemDis: An open platform for computing semantic distance. Behavior Research Methods, 53(2), 757-780.